

I am a regular listener and financial supporter of Airl radio here in the San Jose area. Airl is a listener-supported FM station and has been for many years - because it is both needed and wanted. How many other stations are people willing to support in a financially sacrificial way? To allow LPFM stations to take priority over current FM translator service would be a drastic and unwanted change.